Art and Nature.

It seems to me that your criticism of the painting of Joseph and Potiphar's Wife, at Wiswells, by one of the old masters, is hardly just. You find fault because the artist has made the woman so unattractive and untempting that it detracts from the credit which you have ascribed to Joseph for virtue in resisting the "bad but beautiful woman, who appears to you through your ideal."

It has usually been held, Mr. Critic, that to be true to nature, is the highest merit of a work of art. This is equally true of human nature as of inanimate nature. Are you not, Mr. Critic, criticizing the artist for not portraying a resistance on the part of Joseph which would not be true to nature, when you set up the "bad but beautiful woman of your ideal" as his temptation?

The artist has delineated Joseph as beautiful, troubled and reluctant; and Potiphar's wife as immodest and coarse. Do you not suppose that he knew what he was arout? Which is truest to nature, the temptation and triumph of virtue, as he has portrayed it, or as your ideal would make it?

Republican County and District Conven-tion—A Straight Ticket Nominated Great Exthusiasm.

In point of numbers and enthusiasm, the Republican Convention yesterday was equal to any we have ever attended in Hamilton County. The deliberations were harmonious, but the members paid no regard to the ordinary rules of order, but talked aloud during the calls of votes, creating such a confusion that it was difficult for the Secretary to record the result. The President did his best to enforce silence, but could not accomplish the task.

The meeting was called to order by J. K. Green, who moved that E. T. Carson act as temporary Chairman, which was carried temporary Chairman, which was earried unanimously.

Three Committees, consisting of one from each election precinct—one on credentials, one on business and one on permanent organization—were chosen; our space, however, is too circumscribed to permit us to publish the list of names embodied in each.

The Committee on Credentials reported that all the delegations were full, and that there were no contested seate—a novelty in Hamilton County politics.

The Committee on Permanent Officers reported the following named persons, who were unanimously chosen by the Convention:

tion:
President—Thomas H. Weasner.
Vice-Presidents—First District—B. Eggleston, D. A. Morton. Second District—Chas. Stagge, E. T. Carson.
Secretaries—H. G. Armstrong, E. Wassinich and Job Pugh.
Mr. Weasner, on taking the chair, remarked briefly upon the importance of the Convention, and the necessity of harmonious deliberation.

The Committee on Business reported the following as the order to be observed in the nomination of candidates:

1. Member of Congress from the First Dis-2. Member of Congress from the Second District.

3. Sheriff.

4. Auditor. 5. Clerk. 6. Probate Judge. Prosecuting Attorney. County Commissioner. Coroner.

9. Coroner.
10. County Surveyor.
11. Director of the County Infirmary.
They likewise recommended that a majority be necessary for a choice, and that the body be governed by the rules usually adopted at political conventions, with the exception of those of Charleston and Baltimore. The report was adopted.

The delegates for the First District then proceeded to nominate a candidate for Congress, and the names of Dr. O. W. Nixon, O. M. Spencer and John Grossbeck were proposed. The ballot resulted as follows:

1st Ballot. 2d Ballot. 3d Ballot.

Judge Spencer having received a majority of the votes cast, was unanimously nominated by acclamation.

of the votes cast, was unanimously nominated by acclamation.

A gentleman from the Second District proposed the name of Hon. John A. Gurley for re-election, which was received with such deafening cheers that it was some minutes before any further business could be transacted. The nomination was thus made by acclamation, and confirmed by three cheers. The convention then took a recess till one o'clock P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At one o'clock, the Convention not being full, Mr. I. J. Allen was called upon, and made a few remarks upon the political issues of the day, and then read a letter from a brother in Illinois—an intimate acquaintance of Mr. Lincoln—in which that gentleman was spoken of in the highest terms, he likewise predicted that Lincoln will carry Illinois by the largest majority that any candidate has ever received. The speaker continued by referring to [Mr. Lincoln, who, Democrats said, could do nothing but split rails; that, said he, is more than Mr. Buchanan could do, for he has not yet given any legitimate evidence that he had ever split any thing. (Cheers and laughter.)

A ballot was then taken for Sheriff, as follows:

Mr. Harris was then unanimously nomin ated.

Two ballots were had for Auditor, the last of which resulted in the choice of J. G. Olden. The vote stood as below.

Int Ballet. 24 Ballot.

| Mar. |

On the last ballot the vote was very close, and the general impression was that Mr. Stevenson had a majority of one or two, but three or four changes to Mr. Cist decided the question, and he was declared the unanimous nominee of the Convention.

Two hallots were taken for Probate Judge. Two ballots were taken for Probate Judge, with the subjoined result: 1st Bullot. W. Caldwell.....

Mr. Carpenter was nominated. For Prosecuting Attorney, Theophilus Gaines and E. F. Noys were stamed, but the latter withdrew, and moved that the former latter withdrew, and moved that the former be nominated by acclamation, which was carried unanimously.

For Coroner, a number of names were pre-sented, but before the close of the ballotings, it became evident that Dr. F. G. Emmerth was the choice of a large majority of the dele-gates, and he was nominated by acclamation. His principal competitors were Drs. Webb, and Jordan.

and Jordan.

The next office on the list being County Commissioner, the following gentlemen were named: Leonard Swartz, J. I. Ross, Andrew Magill, Wm. Scott, W. G. Carson, and Milton Glenn. The ballot, when closed, stood as follows:

Thirty delegates changed their votes for Swartz, giving him 193 votes, and he was nominated.

 J. W. Gilbert was selected for County Surveyor, receiving 227 votes on the first ballot
 The following is the entire vote: Chas. H. Blisso. John Eversole... R. G. Philips.... J. W. Gilbert...

John K. Greene, present incumbent, was nominated by acclamation for Director of the City Infirmary; after which the city members of the Executive Committee were instructed to select five candidates for Magistrates to fill the vacancies occurring this fall.

Three cheers were then given for the ticket, and the same for Lincoln and Hamlin, after which a vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Genfroy, of the Gibson House, for a cask of excellent lemonade furnished to the Convention, and another to the officers of the meeting, for their faithful services, when a motion to adjourn was put and carried.

The subject of a fusion was referred to but once, and that was when Dr. Carey was named for Coroner. A number of gentlemen at that juncture demanded to know if the Doctor intended to support Lincoln, and they declared their intention to vote for no one outside of the Republican party. The discussion, however, was cut short by the withdrawal of Mr. Carey.

The Chicago Zonave Cadets-Drill at the Orphan Asylum Lot - Presentation to Col Ellsworth - Display at the Opera-house.

The Chicage Zenave Cadets—Drill at the Orphan Asylum Let—Presentation to Col. Ellaworth—Display at the Opera-house.

According to the programme that hadbeen previously arranged, the Chicage Zouave Cadets met yesterday morning at their headquarters, at nine o'clock, and in company with the Rover Guards and the American Continentals, proceeded to the Orphan Asylum Lot for a public drill.

The streets, windows and house-tops along the line of march were thronged with persons of both sexes and ages, and an immense crowd had assembled in and about the Orphan Asylum. The day was very clear, and the beat quite oppressive, but the Zouaves seemed equal to any emergency, and after their exercises had been completed looked as fresh as when they were begun. After they had reached the ground they were disminsed for a few minutes, after which they were ordered to "fall in," and the drill began.

The first part consisted of the manual of arms, every movement in which was performed with the most minute precision. The support, present, order, shoulder, right and left shoulder shift, and the stacking elicited loud applause, and their movements were as simultaneous as those of automata fixed on pivots and moved by a single wire, or the German toys, representing files of soldiers, now so nearly obsolete. The loading and firing was as perfectly executed; every arm ruised and fell at the same moment, and the click of the locks sounded but as one. The most remarkable feature of this drill was the firing at will, which they did when ordered as perfectly and regularly as though each order was given separately by the commander, continuing until ordered to cease. This was repeated several times, in perfect silence, without music. They also fired by platoons, and as comrades at arms, after which the arms were stacked and the Zouaves rested for a brief interval, during which they divested themselves of their knapsacks.

The second part consisted of marches and counter-marches, walking and running, or rather trotting, the rapidity with whic ness with which the company again formed, all of which excited the admiration of the andience.

Next came the skirmishing drill, which commenced by the Zonaves dividing into two platoons, in open order, first platoon fires, second platoon then move forward five paces and take their places, while the second again load and take the places of the first while the latter reload. Then they formed into squads of five each, as comrades in arms and went through similar manewires. Then half the company formed two platoons of skirmishers, loading on one knee and firing in turn, then all squasting upon the ground, tailor fishion, and retreating, after a fire, to the reserve then took their place, the others assembling in the rear and forming a new reserve, while the others repeat the loading, firing by platoons and retreat as before.

Having formed once more, the company again divided, and formed first in a single line across the field, then in squads or scouting parties, as comrades at arms, then lying down in a circle, and forming, afterward, two stright lines. Next came the most wonderful exhibition of all, the "belly movement," in which one platoon loaded while lying on their stomachs, and as the other fired, moved forward and took their places, allowing them to reload. The lying down movement is peculiar. They throw their weight upon their hands and lower themselves gradually to the ground, the feet touching last. After this exercise they laid down their arms and rested, and in the interval Col. Ellsworth was presented with a beautiful bouquet by Mr. Cartwright, with the request that it be attached to the colors, which was done.

But the last portion of the drill surpassed every thing preceding. This was the bayonet exercise, which excelled any thing ever witnessed here. The men formed in squares of four each, and parried and thrust with rent rapidity at an imaginary enemy, then charged, retreated and rallied on the reserve, forming a kind of pyramid of men and bayonets intermingled, embracing the whole corps. They ne citizen soldiers with new ardor.

The Zouaves left the city this morning at four o'clock, en routs for Louisville, St. Louis and Springfield, after which they will return to their homes in Chicago. Their visit to Cincinnati seems to have been quite an agreeable one, both to them and our citizens, who will ever remember with pleasureble armonial to the control of t

LAW REPORT.

Geo. B. Pearson es. J. C. Woodruff and Q. A. Keith. The application requiring the Executors of Chas. F. Pearson to give bonds, was disposed of by Judge Hilton. SANGUINARY INDIAN BATTLE.

Slain-Excitement Along the Frontier Set

The Topeka (K. T.) Record of the 4th inst us the following: We learn from Mr. Davidson, of Indianols

We learn from Mr. Davidson, of Indianola, that a painful rumor was brought to that place on Saturday last, by a returned Pike's Peaker, of a severe Indian fight, some three weeks since, on the Solomon, about 100 miles above Fort Kiley, in which about 300 Pottowattomies and Delawares were killed. The informant says he passed directly through the scene of the fight—that the dead were all scalped, and supposed the other party to have been Cheyennes, Arrapahoes, &c., who were known to have been in that vicinity at that time.

The murdered Indians are supposed to be a party of some three or four hundred Pottowattomies, half-breeds, and Delawares, that went from this vicinity a short time previous to the russored battle, for the purpose of hunting buffalo. Among them were Messrs. L'Fiumbeau, Beaubien, Ogee, Darling, and coarge, and the whole drill ended with a vigorous charge of the whole company, with a Zouave yell, terrifying to a timid ear.

When the display was finished they marched back to the headquarters, where they were received by the Guthrie Grays and edgress by Capt. Christopher.

Here they were surprised by Capt. Enyart, of the Guthries, who, after the companies had been drawn up in a line, presented Col. Ellsworth with a pair of epaulets which had been worn by Capt. P. N. Guthrie in the active service of his country.

During their stay in Pittsburg, the Greys of that city presented Col. E. with a sword, and as Capt. Guthrie was formerly commander of the company, this presentation.

Flumbeau, Beaubien, Ogee, Darling, and several other prominent Indians, well-known in this vicinity, who accompanied the expedition for the sake of the excitement and plant of the expedition for the sake of the excitement and plant of the expedition for the sake of the excitement and plant of the expedition for the sake of the excitement and plant of the expedition for the sake of the excitement and plant of the expedition for the sake of the excitement and plant of the expedition for the sake of the excitement and plant of the expedition for the sake of the excitement and plant of the expedition where a battle had been fought only four days previous, between the Cheyennes, Arapahoes, &c., and the Pawnees. His party had advanced but a few miles beyond this spot, in quest of buffalo, when they came suddenly upon a large camp of Indians, numbering, he thought, over 1,060.

The Indians called themselves Pawnees, but he and his party believed them to be Cheyennes, as they had been victorious in the fight of a few days before, and had driven the Pawnees from that vicinity. The savages immediately surrounded the little caravan, numbering only sixteen men, making hostile demonstrations, and would doubtless have murdered them all but from a fear that other and larger parties of Pottawotless have murdered them all but from a fear that other and larger parties of Pottawottomies and whites were in the rear, a delusion which the hunters encouraged until they got clear of their troublesome visitors.

The fight between the Cheycanes and Pawnecs was witnessed by a couple of pioneers, who were at the time hunting buffalo, and was described by them as being a fearful scene. The combatants numbered some thousands, were all mounted, and kept constantly circling, lying down in their saddles, and firing over, their horses necks as they approached the enemy. The fight lasted two hours; quite a number were killed—their informants did not know how many—and at the end of that time the Pawnees broke and run with the Cheyennes after them.

the end of that time the Pawnees broke and run with the Cheyennes after them. It was the original intention of Mr. Davidson's party to have accompanied the band of Pottawattomies and Delawares spoken of, but by some defect in the arrangement they did not meet at the place appointed for the rendezvous, and the two parties took different routes. In addition to the above information Mr. D. informs us that great excitement prevails throughout the frontier settlements, on account of Indian depredations—that many whites had been killed; also, that he met many families on their way to the larger setwhites had been killed; also, that he met many families on their way to the larger sottlements, carrying with them their entire household goods, having abandoned their houses, their crops, and every thing they could not carry away.

Companies were being made up at Manhattan, Junction City, &c., for pursuing and classising these wild Indians, who have never before pressed the settlements so close as now. It is hoped that the commandants of the forts will take this in hand immediately. The settlement of the country on the Republican and Solomon's Forks had been rapidly progressing this season, and these disturbances, unless speedily checked, will prove very serious in its effects upon that country. Messrs. L'Flumbeau and others spoken of above have since been heard from, all asfe. The rumor of a fight is confirmed, but no particulars received.
